Dr. Alexander Ivanov, F.A.C.C. joined Cardiology Associates of Somerset County in July of 2002 adding to our services the best arrhythmia management available. His expertise in the area of abnormal heart rhythms covers problems from management of palpitations, dizziness or passing out, to prevention of sudden cardiac death.

Dr. Ivanov is an Attending Physician at Somerset Medical Center, Somerville, NJ and Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, New Brunswick, NJ.

Dr. Ivanov earned his Medical Degree in Europe. After graduating Summa Cum Laude in 1983 from the 1st Pavlov Medical Institute of Saint Petersburg, one of Russia's oldest and most renowned medical schools, he worked at the City Hospital of St. Petersburg until 1992, serving as Attending Physician in the Departments of Internal Medicine, and Emergency Medicine, and later as an Intensive Cardiologist in the Cardiac Care Unit.

Dr. Ivanov has conducted extensive research in heart disease and is published in European and American journals, for instance in the American Journal of Cardiology in 2000 and Europe in 2001. He also wrote the chapter on Electrocardiography in the Clive Rosendorff's Essential Cardiology (WB Saunders, 2000).

After moving to the United States in 1992, and scoring in the 98th percentile on National Boards, Dr. Ivanov joined the Hahnemann University Hospital in Philadelphia, where he completed his American Internal Medicine Residency, winning the University's award for the highest score on the National In-Service Exam in 1997. After completing his Fellowship in Cardiology, at the Lankenau Hospital, Wynnewood, PA in 2000, he specialized in management of arrhythmias and completed a Fellowship in Electrophysiology in 2002.

Dr. Ivanov spent a considerable amount of time in Milan, Italy, in one of the most prestigious electrophysiology labs in the world, working with world-renowned Dr. Carlo Pappone, while expanding on his electrophysiological (EP) techniques. Presently he is one of very few electrophysiologists in this area of the country who perform Curative Ablation for atrial fibrillation and other advanced electrophysiologic procedures.

Dr. Ivanov has been consistently on the Honor Roll at Somerset Medical Center for patient satisfaction since he joined our practice. He enjoys his teaching responsibilities for the residents and physicians at Somerset Medical Center and has presented multiple teaching grand rounds for our medical community, of which he has received recognition awards from the American Academy of Family Physicians.

Board Certified in Electrophysiology, Dr. Ivanov is also board Certified in Nuclear Cardiology, Adult Comprehensive Echocardiography, Cardiology and Internal Medicine. Dr. Ivanov is a member of the Heart Rhythm Society (former North American Society of Pacing and Electrophysiology), the American College of Cardiology and the American Medical Association.
